Fascinating Stopover Apart from effectively connecting areas within the Putrajaya city, the eight unique and distinctive signature bridges have been designed to exude aesthetic appeal reflecting local culture. Currently, five of the bridges have been completed.

Putra Bridge Deemed the most important of the bridges in Putrajaya, the 435-metre concrete bridge connects the Government Precinct to the Mixed Development Precinct, with the upper level of the bridge forming part of the Boulevard. The two-tier bridge is inspired by the Islamic architecture of the famous Khaju Bridge in Isfahan, Iran. Its magnificent attractions are the four minaret-type piers complete with observation decks overlooking the Putrajaya Lake. This unique bridge provides access to pedestrians, vehicles and a monorail while its piers will be developed into fine dining restaurants with a place for boats to berth.

Seri Perdana Bridge Inspired by Moorish Islamic architecture and part of the protocol route, the 370-metre long bridge is built across the lake and is currently the most used bridge. The concrete bridge has eight rest areas, with minarets of different styles, for visitors to enjoy the panoramic view of the lake, the Perdana Putra Complex as well as the Putra

The main reception, the banquet block and residence block is a self-contained private home for the Prime Minister and his family.

While Malay and Islamic design idioms dominate the architecture of Seri perdana, the building also incorporates several western and contemporary elements to reflect a universal outlook. The building also makes extensive use of openings which offer panoramic views of the city. Guests are rewarded with attractively landscaped grounds which are divided into seven zones, each with its own characteristics based on its size and function.

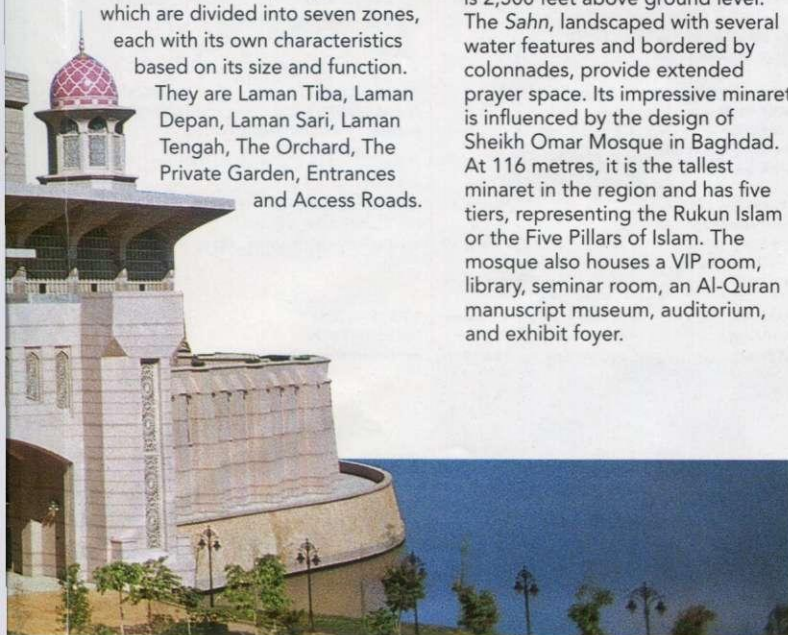

They are Laman Tiba, Laman Depan, Laman Sari, Laman Tengah, The Orchard, The Private Garden, Entrances and Access Roads.

Putra Mosque The pink-domed Putra Mosque is constructed of rose-tinted granite and can accommodate 15,000 worshippers at any one time. The basement wall of the mosque resembles that of the King Hassan Mosque in Casablanca, Morocco. The mosque consists of three main functional areas – the prayer hall, the Sahn or courtyard, learning facilities and function rooms.

The prayer hall is simple and elegant, supported by 12 columns. The highest point below the dome is 2,500 feet above ground level. The Sahn, landscaped with several water features and bordered by colonnades, provide extended prayer space. Its impressive minaret is influenced by the design of Sheikh Omar Mosque in Baghdad. At 116 metres, it is the tallest minaret in the region and has five tiers, representing the Rukun Islam or the Five Pillars of Islam. The mosque also houses a VIP room, library, seminar room, an Al-Quran manuscript museum, auditorium, and exhibit foyer.

MERCU TANDA PUTRAJAYA

In Brief

Putrajaya is a thoroughly modern and vibrant city. It is a model township that has been constructed with detailed planning, innovative urban design and utmost concern for the preservation of the environment. Its beautifully landscaped roads and parks as well as modern buildings clearly reflect the duality of its theme- "Garden City, Intelligent City".

The new vision to have a new Federal Government Administrative Centre to replace Kuala Lumpur emerged in the late 1980s. The relocation was to ensure that Kuala Lumpur will

Lake, which serves as a climate moderator. Many have marvelled at the water quality, which is graded Class 2B of the Interim National Water Quality Standards and is suitable for body contact, a requirement of all national and international water sports. Currently, the lake offers activities such as canoeing, boating, kayaking and aqua biking.

National Heritage

Putrajaya is divided into two major areas: the Core Area (comprising the Government Precinct, Mixed Development Precinct, Civic & Cultural Precinct, Commercial Precinct and Sports & Recreation Precinct) and the Periphery Area (comprising residential areas, parks and public amenities), which are separated by a large man-made lake.

KELAB TASIK PUTRAJAYA

continue to develop as Malaysia's principal business and financial centre. A lush 4,932-hectare forest area in southern Prang Besar in Selangor was identified and later renamed "Putrajaya" in honour of Malaysia's first Prime Minister, Tunku Abdul Rahman Alhaj, for his invaluable contributions to the nation.

Of the city's total land area, about 38% is being developed into parks, lakes and wetlands while the remaining is reserved for government offices, commercial and residential areas, as well as public utilities and amenities. The centrepiece of the city is the 650-hectare man-made Putrajaya

The Government Precinct, which is the most prominent in line with its role as the administrative centre of the Federal Government, pioneers the concept of an electronic or e-government. The seat of the government - the Prime Minister's Office Complex or Perdana Putra is located at the highest point in this precinct and overlooks Dataran Putra.

Visitors to Putrajaya will surely notice the unique designs of the street lights lining its wide roads. Based on motifs such as the obor (torch) and wau (giant kite), they provide a warm and eye catching welcome to all.

Centre Of Attraction

Perdana Putra The Perdana Putra building houses the offices of the Prime Minister of Malaysia, the Deputy Prime Minister, Ministers and Deputy Ministers in the Prime Minister's Department, Chief Secretary to the Government, Scientific Advisor's Office, Special Technology Unit, Implementation Coordination Unit and the Malaysian Industry-Government Group for High Technology.

The design of the building incorporates elements of Islamic-Mogul architecture and overlooks the Putrajaya Lake. The stone-clad building with its green-pitched roof that converges at the onion-shaped glazed mosaic main dome and surrounded by four smaller domes, forms the distinctive landmark of Putrajaya. Wrought iron bunga raya motifs and water jet stone carvings decorate the main block.

Seri Perdana The official residence of the Prime Minister of Malaysia, Seri Perdana is also used for official receptions and banquets. Seri Perdana comprises three blocks - main reception/protocol block, banquet block and residence block.

Taman Warisan Pertanian Taman Warisan Pertanian showcases the agricultural development of traditional Malaysian crops such as rubber, cocoa, palm oil, fruits, herbs and spices. The process of growing the plants from seeds to maintaining and processing them into finished edible or non-edible products are exhibited here. Among the many attractions and facilities provided in the park are the Visitor's Complex, an orchard, a Herbs and Spices Track, Rubber Clonal Plot and Viewing Deck. Visitors can observe agriculture-related activities as latex collection and its coagulation before being rolled into rubber sheets; crops maintenance; fruit preservation and many others.

The air-conditioned cruise boat seats 76 persons comfortably and allows passengers spectacular vistas of Putrajaya with its wrap-around glass windows.

The open-air perahus come in two unique designs - payang and kolek, and in 4-seater and 6-seater capacity, each operated by a single boatman.

Places To Visit

Putrajaya Convention Centre

The Putrajaya Convention Centre or PCC in short, is another distinct landmark in the city with facilities designed to attract international and regional conventions, exhibitions and private functions. It takes the shape of the wau bulan (moon kite) and the pending perak (silver royal belt buckle), with the main halls set in the "eye" of the pending perak.

The total gross floor area of the PCC is about 135,000 square metres over nine levels. The largest meeting hall is the Plenary Hall, which measures 4,302 square metres and can accommodate

Other Places of Interest

Visitors can also go to Taman Putra Perdana, a park located at the highest point in Precinct 1, to enjoy a panoramic view of Putrajaya. Other parks that will be available in future include Taman Wawasan, Taman Rimba Desa, Taman Rimba Hijau and Taman Saujana Hijau.

Picture Perfect The 300 metres circular Dataran Putra, adorned with light and water features, is the centrepiece of Precinct 1. Designed as two concentric plazas, the circular ceremonial area is an open hard landscape encircled by Chahar Baghs, the recreation of Eden with its four quadrants and four rivers. Serving as a transition between the parks and the ceremonial area, the Chahar Baghs is a carefully arranged interplay of paths, water channels, flowerbeds and trees. Beyond the Chahar Baghs is a sea of colourful local flora.

Dataran Putra is divided into 11 segments, in the pattern of an 11-pointed star. The 11-pointed star represents the 11 states of Malays when the country gained independence in August 1957; an inner 13-pointed star the 13 states that formed Malaysia in 1963 and within it a 14-pointed star with the inclusion of the Federal Territories.

The Millennium Monument

The Millennium Monument is the first national monument to be built in Putrajaya. Its construction serves to document the country's achievements. The Monument will be the medium for the younger generation to learn about the country's history, the sacrifices and success stories of local leaders, inspiring them to strive for higher achievements in the future.

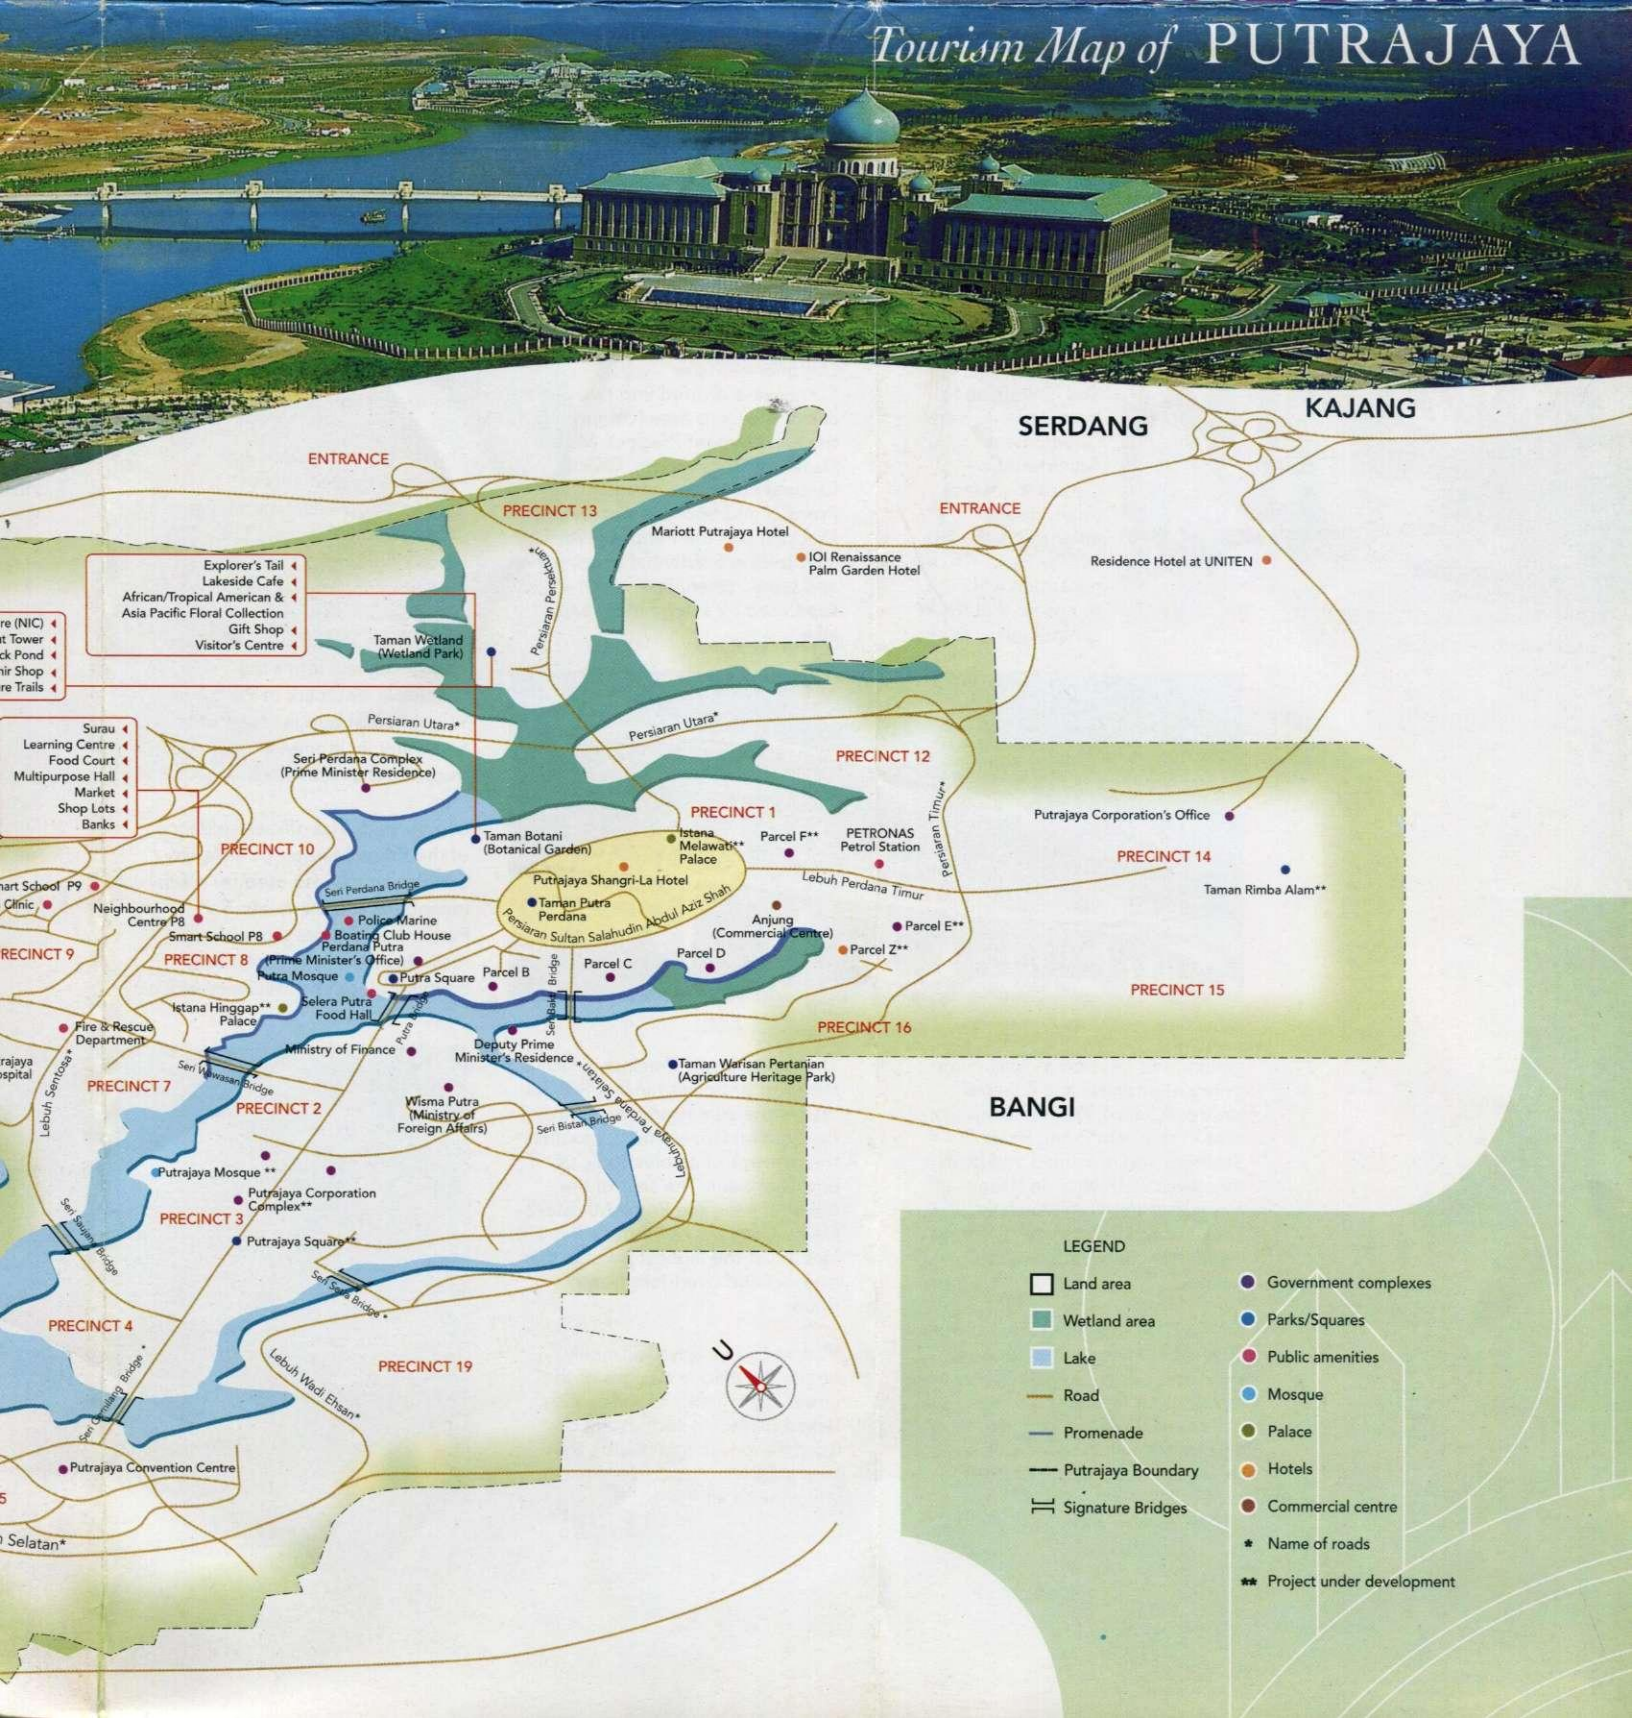

The Monument which is sited on a 25-hectare park in Precinct 2, takes the shape of the Bunga Raya, and is 68 metres in height. Its main pillar has different diameters – measuring 3 metres at the base, 4 metres in the middle and has a pointed tip. The monument is constructed of solid metal and strengthened with metal structures.
